WOULD DISCARD VOLUNTEER PLAN

GENS. SCOTT AND WOOD RECOMMEND PASSAGE OF UNIVERSAL MILITARY BILL

NEED ARMY OF 1,500,000

ARMY OFFICERS DECLARE MILITIA TO BE A JOKE AND URGE FEDERALIZATION OF RESERVE FORCES.

Washington, Dec. 21.—The mobilization of the National Guard for border service was described as a military failure, emphasizing the urgent necessity of abandoning the volunteer system as the Nation's reliance for defense, in statements made Monday by Maj. Gen. Hugh L. Scott, chief of staff of the army, and Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, commanding the Eastern Department, before the Senate subcommittee considering the Chamberlain universal military training bill.

Both Generals advocated universal training. Gen. Wood declared the country now was utterly defenseless against a well-organized foe; that the mobilization was a tragedy and that if the guardsmen had met good troops they "would never have known what hit them." Gen. Scott told the committee that lessons drawn from the present had proved that in case of war with a first-class power, the United States would need immediately a trained force of 1,500,000 men, with another 1,500,000 available within ninety days.

On the other side of the question the committee heard Walter L. Fisher, of Chicago, former Secretary of the Interior, who opposed universal service, who he stood for adequate defense measures and suggested a regular army of half a billion. He thought if the pay of privates were raised to $30 per month the service would be more attractive to recruits.

THIRTY PER CENT REJECTED.

Gen. Wood, from whose department went 85,000 of the guardsmen sent to the border, said of the men enrolled, when the call came, an average of thirty per cent of each company had to be dropped for physical defects and the organization went to the border filled up with "green" men.

"It has been a tragedy," he said, "but worth all it cost if we only profit by it. It is not the fault of the officers or men, but of a defective system. If we had been compelled to meet good troops down there, it would have been a scene of carnage. The guardsmen would never have known what hit them."

"What should we do with the National Guard, General?" Senator Brady asked.

"It should be replaced as rapidly as possible with men trained under a universal service system," Gen. Wood replied. "When the system has been well started, I would drop the National Guard entirely from any scheme of national defense, altho we want every officer and man of them in the new plan. But it must be a straight out Federal force."

ARMY AVIATION SCHOOL MAY MOVE TO MEMPHIS

Washington, Dec. 19.—Memphis, Tenn., probably will be selected by the War Department for the winter establishment of the Army Aviation School for the Central States, now located at Chicago. Final selection, it was said to-day, has not been made, but the possibilities of Memphis are considered the best of any place under contemplation. The school is fitted with equipment for an aviation squadron and is attended by about fifty students.

BOSTON GOES "WET" BY NEARLY TWO TO ONE

Boston, Dec. 19.—Boston to-day voted to continue the licensed sale of liquor after the liveliest campaign on the liquor question that city has had in years. The vote in favor of license was 53,459, with 29,997 against. Last year the vote for license was 45,115 and 31,877 against.

The total vote was the largest ever cast here on the license question, which overshadowed all other issues in the campaign.

Women holding banners bearing pictures of small children and words "Please protect us by voting no-license," were stationed in the vicinity of most of the polling booths. Motor trucks and brewery wagons carrying printed appeals to vote "yes" were sent through the city by the license forces.

The Rev. William A. Sunday, who is conducting an evangelistic campaign here, took a prominent part in the fight. He delivered several addresses on the liquor issue and urged the voters who attended his meetings to vote "no." The Massachusetts Anti-Saloon League sent out thousands of circulars and kept a force of orators busy for weeks.

North Adams Goes Dry.

North Adams, Mass., Dec. 19.—This city went no-license to-day for the first time in twenty-nine years by a vote of 1,694 to 1,596. Last year the license forces won, 1,741 to 1,557.

EXTRA PAY MEASURE IS BITTERLY SCORED

OPPONENTS ASK HOW ADDITIONAL $39,000,000 IS TO BE RAISED.

Washington, Dec. 19.—Salary or wage increases of from five to ten per cent for about 18,000 Government employees receiving less than $1,800 a year and of $500 a year for each Representative's secretary were provided for in the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill, passed today by the House without a record vote. The secretaries now get $1,500 a year. An attempt to provide each Representative with an extra stenographer at $75 a month during the session failed.

Discussion of the measure, which carries appropriations aggregating about $39,000,000, was productive of much debate over the financial condition of the country. Chairman Fitzgerald, of the Appropriations Committee, and Representative Rainey, of the Ways and Means Committee, protested against the proposed increases on the ground that the Government already faced a deficit.

Representative Rainey declared the next budget would exceed $1,600,000,000, and that the country was confronted with the possibility of attempting to collect $500,000,000 more in new taxes.

"How are you going to raise it?" he asked, "restore the Payne-Aldrich bill? That is the proposal some of you make, yet to save your lives you can not frame a tariff bill which will yield over $350,000,000 a year."

Mr. Rainey also asserted that the limit in revenue had been reached from income taxes, the present rate being the highest in the world, and that Nation-wide prohibition soon would make it necessary to raise $257,000,000 from some new source.

FAVORS MORE PAY.

Republican Leader Mann favored higher salaries for employees, declaring they should share in the general prosperity which the country is experiencing as a result of the European war.

The bill carried appropriations for all of the nine subtreasuries in the country. Representative Sisson, of Mississippi, made an unsuccessful fight to have them abolished on the ground that the Federal reserve banks had made them useless. Secretary McAdoo advised Congress, in a letter to-day that the subtreasuries were needed, altho further experience might demonstrate that the functions of some of them might be transferred to Washington.

FEDERAL BULLETIN SAYS WORRY SHORTENS LIFE

Washington, Dec. 18.—The Public Health Service, which has been gathering statistics on nervous diseases and their tendency to shorten life, to-day issued a bulletin against worrying.

"So far as is known," says the bulletin, "no bird ever tried to build more nests than its neighbor; no fox ever fretted because he had only one hole in which to hide; no squirrel ever died of anxiety lest he should not lay by enough nuts for two winters instead of one, and no dog ever lost any sleep over the fact that he did not have enough bones laid aside for his declining years."

REMEMBRANCES AT CHRISTMAS TIME TO HELP MEET HIGH COST OF LIVING.

London, Dec. 19.—The announcement in the House of Commons to-day by David Lloyd-George, the new Prime Minister, that the first act of his administration was the rejection of the proposal of the Central Powers for a peace conference constituted one of the most momentous scenes which the oldest parliamentary veterans had ever witnessed.

The new Premier declared that before the Allies could give favorable consideration to such an invitation, they must know that Germany was prepared to accede to the Allies' terms, giving "complete restitution, full reparation and effectual guarantees," and "to enter a conference upon the invitation of Germany proclaiming herself victorious, without any knowledge of her proposals, would be putting our heads into a noose with the end of the rope in Germany's hands."

Mr. Lloyd-George asserted that at the moment Germany was penning the note, assuming her convictions as to the rights of other nations, she was dragging Belgians into slavery. He announced that the note presented thru Washington contained no proposals of terms, but was a paraphrase of Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg's speech, and that the Allies had separately concluded to reject it, altho they had informally exchanged views, and would, within a few days, present a joint reply.

ASQUITH SECONDS VIEWS.

Mr. Asquith, former Premier, seconded Mr. Lloyd-George's decision with even stronger words, and almost at the same moment, Earl Curzon was informing the Lords that the government would enter no conference that did not guarantee for Europe the free and independent existence of nations great and small. The Marquis of Crewe affirmed the approval of the members of the late government.

The day was a double-important one for the Commons, because the new Premier unfolded his program for wide-reaching war measures, and Mr. Asquith closed the last chapter of his nine years of leadership with an accounting of his war stewardship.

NOT PROFIT-SHARING PLAN.

In breaking the good news in this territory yesterday, Mr. Turnbull gave out a statement from W. T. Gentry, of the Southern Bell Telephone Company in Atlanta. Mr. Gentry said:

"This distribution is in no sense a profit-sharing plan.

"We are taking this step in the sincere effort to assist our employees in an emergency brought about by the high cost of living. This seems to be the most reasonable and equitable manner in which we can help them in this situation. We have had a fairly good year, but this amount, distributed to the employees will be twice as much as will remain to the stockholders after paying interest on bonds and six per cent interest on the capital stock.

"I am glad, indeed, that we are in a position to show in such a substantial manner our appreciation of the loyalty and efficiency of such a magnificent organization. Particularly, am I glad, that it comes at a time when it will add to the joy of the Christmas season and enable practically the entire Bell family to face the new year with renewed courage."—Louisville Herald.

Miss Verna Duke entertained her friends Friday evening with a theater party and luncheon at the Commercial Hotel. The dining room of the hotel was decorated for the occasion with red predominating as a color scheme. The following guests were present:

Misses Willie Smith, Clara Robertson, Hettie Riley, Mrs. E. G. Bass, Ruth Riley and Verna Duke. Messrs. E. Y. Park, Clarence Iglesias, Henderson Murphree, A. D. Kirk, Mack Fogle and E. G. Bass.

MAGISTRATES MAY COLLECT EXPENSES

FISCAL COURTS GIVEN AUTHORITY TO ATTEND ROAD ENGINEERS' CONVENTION.

Fiscal Courts in Kentucky have the right to appropriate money to pay their expenses in attending meetings of county road engineers. This is the substance of an opinion given Rodman Wiley, Commissioner of Public Roads, by Attorney M. M. Logan in response to a request in view of the meeting of county road engineers of Kentucky to be held at Bowling Green January 17 to 20.

The Attorney General's opinion in part follows:

"By the provisions of Section 1845, Kentucky Statutes, the Fiscal Court has the right to appropriate money for the purpose of providing for the good condition of the highways in the county. It is probable that under this provision of the law the Fiscal Court would have the right to appropriate money to pay the expenses of the members of the Fiscal Court in obtaining the information which they would obtain in attendance at a meeting of this kind.

"Section 1845, Kentucky Statutes which allows compensation to the members of the Fiscal Court, except the County Judge, for each day they are engaged in actual attendance at the meetings of the committees of said court. If the Fiscal Court should resolve itself into a committee for the purpose of attending a road meeting to discuss the best method of constructing roads, it would come within this section, but this section only applies to counties that maintain a system of free turnpikes under the control and supervision of the Fiscal Court.

"While the authority of the Fiscal Court to appropriate money must be strictly construed, but as the duty is imposed upon this court to oversee the construction of roads, it necessarily follows that they must have information to perform these duties. I am willing to make an exception in this particular case, as I believe it is for the best interest of the State and the best interest of the counties, and I am of the opinion that the law justifies the expenditure."

2 KILLED; 15 INJURED IN MINE EXPLOSION

Vincennes, Ind., Dec. 19.—Two dead and fifteen seriously burned is the toll of the explosion that occurred in the mine owned by the Oliphant-Johnson Company at Bruceville, nine miles from here, at 1 o'clock this afternoon. The dead are William Bailey, 42, and Thomas Patterson, 45. Each was married and leaves a family. The bodies have been recovered.

The fifteen men seriously burned following the explosion are in local hospitals. They are expected to recover.

TO FORCE REPLY FROM CARRANZA

AMERICANS ON COMMISSION PLACE RESPONSIBILITY ON MEXICO.

ADJOURN FOR HOLIDAYS

After Asking First Chief For His Views As To Continuing Negotiations for Settlement.

Philadelphia, Dec. 19.—Secretary of Interior Lane and his colleagues on the Mexican-American Joint Commission placed upon Gen. Carranza to-day the responsibility of deciding whether the American Government should continue its efforts to effect a satisfactory and amicable adjustment of the questions affecting the relations of the two countries, and then adjourned until after the holidays. Through his representatives on the commission they sent to him a communication further explaining the position of the United States Government and containing protestations that there exists any intention to violate the sovereignty of Mexico. It was made clear, however, that there can be no modification of the conditions on which the American troops will be withdrawn from Mexico and that the attitude of the Government as outlined in the declaration of policy made by Secretary Lane when the protocol was signed at Antwerp City has not been altered.

The communication was terse, but studious care had been exercised to keep out of the document any phraseology that might give offense to the Mexican Executive. It was not more than 450 words in length. It was handed to the Mexican representatives in joint session and transmitted by them almost immediately to Queretaro where, it is expected, it will be given prompt consideration by Gen. Carranza. It was cabled and a copy sent by mail.

The message of the Americans was in reply to that presented by the Mexicans when they reconvened here yesterday. The communication of the Mexicans was not signed by Mr. Carranza, but his spokesman made it clear that it was an authorized statement of his attitude and the reply given by the Americans to-day is understood to have been addressed to the Mexican commissioners, although intended for their Executive.

Neither the American nor the Mexican commissioners appeared pessimistic in their contemplation of the future. The Americans insisted that they had asked Carranza to sign nothing that would impair his dignity or that would be incompatible with the ideals of his Government. The Mexicans appeared almost equally confident that ratification of the protocol would be withheld no longer and that shortly after the beginning of the new year they would be discussing with the American commissioners those questions in which both nations are interested and which are not covered in the brief agreement whose ratification is being awaited.

PRESIDENT AND WIFE CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY

Washington, Dec. 18.—The President and Mrs. Wilson to-day celebrated their first wedding anniversary with a motor ride, a family dinner party and a visit to the moving pictures.

The President and his wife are very consistent theater-goers, but it was their first visit to "the movies." They went to see Annette Kellerman in a feature film.

Notice of the anniversary was taken in the House, where Republican Leader Mann, just before adjourning to-night, aroused hearty applause by making it the subject of a brief address.

"The beauty of American politics," said Mr. Mann, "is that we accept results and remain friends. Mr. Wilson recently was re-elected President. I did not vote for him. To-day is the anniversary of a very small day in his life, and I went to felicitate him and Mrs. Wilson on their happy union of a year. I wish for them a continuing happiness and a long life."

U. S. WARNED OF WAR'S PROBLEMS

NEW QUESTIONS TO BE TAX ON NATION'S INGENUITY SAYS FRANK A. VANDERLIP

IN ADDRESS AT CHICAGO

Says European Socialism May Revolutionize The Methods of Business.

Chicago, Dec. 16.—Frank A. Vanderlip, president of the National City Bank, of New York, addressing the Chicago Bankers' Club to-night, warned his auditors that the United States will have to meet economic and social problems as a result of the European war, that will tax the ingenuity and resourcefulness of the Nation, and called upon bankers to study and prepare to aid in the solution of these problems.

The belief that the United States could proceed along its own way serene, unaffected by the war and seeking only to keep out of it, he declared, seemed a lack of imagination, blindness of vision and a complete failure to understand the unity of the industrial, commercial and financial world.

"Unless I utterly misjudge affairs," he said, "there are going to develop for this country problems of the gravest import—problems that will need for their correct solution the attention of the most enlightened minds.

Complete Change Expected.

"State Socialism in Europe may develop problems, the like of which never concerned our minds. We may have to meet collective buying, State-aided industries, forms of governmental co-operation with business quite outside our range of thought. Government control of ocean-borne commerce and novel factors in international finance will be subjects for national consideration. There may come out of the war changes in forms of government that will have profound and world-wide influence."

Mr. Vanderlip reviewed the results of the war in the United States up to the present, the increase in gold supplies, the development of credits. He discussed national legislation with praise for the Federal Reserve Act and the Federal Trade Commission. Mentioning the Federal Farm Loan Board, he said:

"Does not the objection to the principle involved, when governmental relations are injected into business, lie quite as much with bankers as with the legislators? Will we not always find the people groping to do thru governmental agencies things that are left undone or are badly done by individual initiative? Must we not safeguard the future from an unwise participation of government in business by seeing that business is so well conducted, so fairly administered, so completely responsive to legitimate needs that there will be no sound reason for Government participation?"

"Within a week I heard the representative of four great railway unions state his views before a New York club. To my mind they were views that contained the essence of anarchy. We were told that we must not pass certain laws because they would not be obeyed; we were given clear intimations regarding the power of these organizations but there was not one hint of their duty or responsibility to society.

"I am hopeful that such utterances do not voice truly the attitude of the people of America nor of any great part of organized labor, but they certainly emphasize the need for national awakening to the need for sound thinking on economic problems."

"It is easy to see that the unsound, unwise, the wrong solution of these problems that are pressing upon us will cost an immeasurable sum of potential wealth, of individual happiness and national progress."

Mr. Vanderlip declared he believed the Federal Reserve Board had ruled unwisely in advising against investment by member banks in short term obligations of the belligerent governments.

"I believe such action by the banks would be wise from a strictly banking viewpoint," he said. "Such an investment would tend to restrict further gold importations, which may lead to dangerous domestic inflation, and would provide credits which would be better than gold when eventually these exchanges turned against us."

AEROPLANE PREFERRED TO REGIMENT OF CAVALRY

Field Headquarters American Expedition, Mexico, Dec. 16.—Striking demonstrations of the value of aeroplanes in the last field maneuvers brought forth the declaration by Maj. Gen. J. J. Pershing, commander of the expeditionary forces, that he would rather have an aeroplane than a regiment of cavalry for reconnaissance work. The admirable work of a motor truck train in transporting infantry to threatened points also brought war commendation.

The problem which the troops at field headquarters sought to solve and in which aeroplanes and trucks were used for the first time involved an attempt to ford the Cañon Grande River at one of three points. These fords, three miles apart, were defended by a regiment of infantry at war strength, a battery of field artillery and a squadron of cavalry. The defenders also had the use of a truck train of twenty-seven cars. Each side had one aeroplane.

Flying about two thousand five hundred feet above the earth, a distance considered ample since the forces had no anti-aircraft guns, Capt. Davenport Johnson, for the defenders, was able to follow the movements of the cavalry from the moment they left their base twelve miles from the river, to the point where a squadron was detached to make a feint at the south ford, while the main body dashed toward the north passage. His work enabled the commanding General to mass his infantry at the ford threatened by using the motor trucks.

The aero scout for the attackers, Capt. Maxwell Kirby, had a more difficult task. His objectives were screened by the trees along the river. Movements of troops also were more or less confused with those of organizations in headquarters camp, which backed the fords. In spite of this he was able to locate the artillery where it had been concealed under the trees and to fix definitely the points where the main bodies of infantry were posted.

Both aviators were in the air four hours with only a few landings to rest them. Messages were sent by means of parachutes and smoke bombs. The task of piloting an aeroplane in puffy air, observing and writing messages taxed the pilots to their utmost. At one time there was considerable excitement, for it was thought the airmen were staging fight above the clouds. The impression was the result of the closeness of the machines and the fact that both were firing smoke bombs.

POLE, OLDEST MAN IN EUROPE, DIES; AGE 117

Warsaw, Dec. 16.—The oldest inhabitant of Poland, or probably of all Europe, died a few days ago in Wioziewek, on the Vistula, at the age of 117.

He was a poor farm laborer of the name of Anton Dylowski. The parish records show that he was born on October 17, 1799.

He was 13 years old when Napoleon fled from Russia after the burning of Moscow and remembered the retreat of the French troops thru Poland. In 1831 and 1863 he took part in the Polish uprisings against Russia.

Danger Signals.

If the fire bell should ring would you run and stop it or go and help to put out the fire? It is much the same way with a cough. A cough is a danger signal as much as a fire bell. You should no more try to suppress it than to stop a fire bell when it is ringing, but should cure the disease that causes the coughing. This can nearly always be done by taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Many have used it with the most beneficial results. It is especially valuable for the persistent cough that so often follows a bad cold or an attack of the grippe.

Mrs. Thomas Beeching Andrews, Ind., writes: "During the winter my husband takes cold easily and coughs and coughs. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best medicine for breaking up these attacks and you cannot get him to take any other." Obtainable everywhere.

It's a Woman's Right.

"So you refuse to marry me," he said to his fair Fall River sweetheart.

"Yes," she answered firmly. "I do."

"Why?" he asked. "Don't you love me?"

"Yes," she answered, "I do."

"Well, then, why don't you marry me?"

"Because," she answered, "I just want to see what you'll do if I don't. If you behave well as a rejected suitor, I might change my mind."

DELUGED WITH CATS; FORCED TO LEAVE HOME

ENGLISH MERCHANT IN SPIRIT OF FUN ORDERS 2,000 CATS AND IS SWAMPED.

New York, Dec. 16.—Two thousand Manx tailless cats, ordered in a spirit of levity, while at lunch with a group of business friends in Liverpool, were the cause of Wilberforce Wiggins, a merchant of that city, having to flee England for a safe refuge in the United States, so Mr. Wiggins explained here to-day.

Mr. Wiggins had been invited to lunch with some friends at the Hotel Wolcott, in Liverpool, and was late in keeping his appointment. His friends inquired the cause, and Mr. Wiggins told them he had been delayed because he had received a hurried order from the Indian government for 1,000 Manx tailless cats, for which he was to pay $25 each. The cats were to kill snakes. Continuing the joke, he told his friends that in order to have 1,000 cats arrive in India in good condition, it would be necessary to secure 2,000 of the tailless felines, as probably half of the consignment would die en route.

TRY TO CORNER CAT MARKET.

Each man present left the table one by one to secretly corner the Manx cat market. Even the clerk and the waiters at the hotel, hearing the story, proceeded to telegraph their relatives in the Isle of Man to buy up all the available cats.

Before Wiggins could explain his prank he was deluged with every variety of cat known in the United Kingdom. There were large cats and small cats, black cats and white cats, and a steady stream of telegrams poured into the Wiggins home, informing him that more cats had been secured. Ragged urchins congregated around the Wiggins doorstep, each with one or more cats clasped firmly in his arms, meanwhile loudly demanding their five pounds ($25) per cat.

The Liverpool docks were cluttered up with consignments of cats. The Board of Health was seriously considering either putting Mr. Wiggins in jail for a year or fining him two shillings (50 cents) for every cat.

ANGORIA DISAPPEARS.

To cap the climax, a beautiful Angora kitty belonging to Mr. Wiggins' rich aunt disappeared, and that estimable lady at once bled herself to the docks to see if her lost pet was among the yowling multitude gathered there. At the moment of her arrival a huge crate full of cats burst open and she was horrified to see her own pet aristocratic feline walking away with a "nasty black cat" of the gutter variety.

Wiggins about that time had arrived at the conclusion that discretion was the better part of valor, and gained the gangplank of an outward bound ship just in time to save himself from his aunt and various other interested cat owners.

Mr. Wiggins said today the date of his return to Liverpool will be entirely governed by the market price of cats.

The Swiss chemist states that the English and French shells are of "normal quality" and praises especially their high explosive shells.

PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICE PUTS BAN ON HEROIN

Washington, Dec. 12.—To aid in counteracting an increasing use of heroin throughout the country, all physicians of the Federal Public Health Service have been ordered not to dispense the drug hereafter for any purpose and to return immediately to the headquarters of the service here any quantities of it they have on hand.

In announcing the step last night public health officials expressed hope that the example set by the service would have a wide influence among general practitioners. It was said a series of experiments had shown that less dangerous agents possessed as powerful medical qualities, and that the sooner physicians realized this the easier it would be to curb the constant increase in the number of habitual heroin users.

The order to discontinue dispensation of heroin applies also to its salts. It was issued by Surgeon Gen. Blue.

A throng of disconsolate roosters from down state were watching the Case football machine bury their gridiron favorites under an avalanche of touchdowns one Saturday afternoon recently at Case Field, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. As the Brown and White tore down toward the visitors' goal line for about the fifth time, a white sweatered cheerleader tried to eject some enthusiasts into the glee cohorts.

"Come on, you fellows! All together, now! Hold 'em! Hold 'em!" he yelled.

But before the crowd could collect its breath and follow his inspiring gyrations a small boy down in front piped disgustedly, "Ah, let 'em loose."

GERMAN AVIATOR HAS GOOD LUCK, GETS 2 PIGS

Berlin, Dec. 16.—Lieut. Walter Kugel, one of the German aviators attached to the army of Field Marshal von Mackensen in Rumania, had a humorous experience recently. On a reconnoitering flight over the Dobrudja, he landed in a village far behind the Russo-Rumanian front. The population, which consisted mostly of Bulgars and Turks, greeted him joyously and the Mayor of the town presented him with two pigs.

As fresh meat is always needed by the troops, the officer decided to get the porkers to the German lines somehow. He had them securely bound and loaded on his aeroplane. Then he rose into the air again, with the squealing pigs, he reached the headquarters of his squadron two hours later.

KODAK DECIDING WHAT TO GIVE THIS X-MAS

Will be easy, as nearly everything has advanced in price
EXCEPT JEWELRY.

There has been no raise on gold and filled jewelry and many other articles in our line, but Clocks, Cut Glass, and Silverware have advanced some.

We urge you more than ever to buy early this year, as materials of all kinds are so scarce that the factories may run short a little later. So as jewelry is the most appropriate gift, and always has been, as it can be kept longer and appreciated more, why not go right now and select your present and have it put back?

But we had a good supply on hand before the advance, which will go at the old price as long as they last.

We have, for the ten years we have been here, steadily increased our stock both in quality and quantity, and this year is by no means an exception. There are too many things to mention, but a few are Watch Bracelets, Necklaces, Rings, Tie Clasps, Stick Pins, Silverware, Cut-glass, and Eastman Kodaks. The Watch Bracelets and Eastman Kodaks are extremely appropriate this year.

We also test eyes, fit glasses and frames and guarantee them, and we are always here to back them up.

MORE TROOPS ARE TO LEAVE BORDER

MANY GUARDSMEN ORDERED HOME—KENTUCKY NOT IN THE LIST.

San Antonio, Tex., Dec. 19.—National Guard organizations aggregating over 10,000 troops yesterday were designated by General Funston to leave the border and return to their respective States, to be mustered out of the Federal service.

The organizations will move home ward in three groups to facilitate use of rolling stock. Cars are now being assembled for regiments included in the first group and the movements from various border points will begin in a few days.

The movement was directed by Gen. Funston under authority of a general order issued recently by the War Department to reduce as he deemed best the forces of the National Guard on the border. It involves 16,647 men, which brings the strength of militia troops on the Mexican border to 75,000 men. The entire movement is expected to be completed by January 5.

The troops to be sent home include guardsmen from Pennsylvania, Michigan, Indiana, Missouri, Nebraska, Maryland, Illinois, Iowa, New York, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Kansas, North Dakota and Utah.

Indiana troops in the list are: Company A, Signal Corps, Ambulance Company No. 1; First Battalion Field Artillery, less Battery D; Brigade headquarters and Thirty-second Infantry; Field Hospital No. 1.

Farm For Sale.
I desire to sell my farm of 75 acres, located on the Hartford and McHenry public road, 2 miles from McHenry, one mile from Hartford and Centertown Pike. Three good wells of water, plenty of fruit for family use, fairly good buildings, 20 acres in woodland, balance cleared of which 20 acres is bottom land. Will sell at a bargain. Change in occupation only reason for selling.

THOMAS GLASSES ADVICE TO CANDIDATES AS SENSIBLE

Editor Republican:—I read with interest your recent sensible editorial advice to prospective candidates before the Republican primary next year.

* Personally I care very little about who carries the keys to the county jail, or performs other duties of the county offices, but I am interested in seeing the preservation of the Republican party in Ohio county.

An apparently safe majority is a tempting bait for numerous aspirants before the primary, and I know of no way to limit the number, but the remedy for harmony after the primary may be exercised before it by our voters.

I will illustrate it in this way: When John Doe, who is a candidate for a county office, approaches me, if I am for him, I will say, "John, I want to be for you, if you are a Republican first and a candidate afterward. Politics isn't ordinarily played by Sunday School rules. Somebody is going to be defeated and it may be you. I am more interested in the success of the Republican party than I am in your personal fortunes. Now, if you are man enough to accept a defeat, if it comes to you, and will pledge in advance your hearty support to the other fellow if he is nominated I am for you."

want to know now what you will do."

If a sufficient number of our voters will put this question squarely up to the candidates they intend to support, the defeated candidates will feel ashamed to kick, however, strongly they may feel like doing so.

I hope our candidates will each make an honorable canvass but I would advise against signing any agreements that however honorably kept, might form suspicion or false statement endangering the election of the nominee. However, a pledge to support a candidate's successful opponent would not be objectionable on the accounts indicated. The public admires the game loser, as it detests the cowardly kicker, and let us in advance make kicking appear so contemptible that no defeated candidate will dare to do it.

J. H. THOMAS.

MURDERS IN UNITED STATES

Number Is Out of All Proportion to Punishments.

New York.—Some interesting, although discreditable, statistics were brought out as to the proportion of murders, lynchings and other felonies in the United States as contrasted with other countries in an address before the Society of Medical Jurisprudence, at the rooms of the New York Academy of Medicine, by Henry A. Forster, of the New York Bar.

"Among the enlightened nations the United States leads the world in freeing murderers and felons," he declared, "while Anglo-Saxon countries not under the American flag have the least percentage of murders and felonies."

Mr. Forster gave the number of homicides (including manslaughter) in the United States in 1912 as 9,152; the number of executions, 145. In 1913 there were 8,992 such crimes and only eighty-eight executions. In 1914, the figures were 8,251 homicides and manslaughters as against seventy-four executions (and two of these were for another crime); and in 1915 there were 9,220 killings and only 119 executions.

"The murder rate in the United States," said Mr. Forster, "is from ten to twenty times greater than the murder rate of the British Empire and other Northwestern European countries."

"Our murder rate for the period 1903-1913 was 6.4 per 100,000 of population. The rate at the same time for England and Wales was 0.8, for Prussia (1904-1913), 2.0; for Australia (1910-1913), 1.9; for Italy, 3.6."

WASHINGTON HOLDS UP CONFIRMATION OF BEY

Washington, Dec. 18.—American relations with Turkey are so unsettled, it became known to-day, that the State Department does not plan to take any action toward the confirmation of Fuad Bey, named by Turkey as Ambassador until that country gives consideration to American representations and interests.

Refusal of the Turks to allow nearly 200 Americans and naturalized Americans to leave Turkey at Jaffa, the conduct of the Turkish authorities in their treatment of the Syrians and Armenians and the abrupt termination of the capitulations of extra territoriality agreement, has created situation which is postponing action by the department in the confirmation of the new Ambassador.

Fuad Bey has been chosen by the Porte to succeed the last Turkish Ambassador, Rustem Bey, who was practically recalled for refusing to retract derogatory statements made in a public letter comparing negro lynchings in this country to persecutions in Armenia.

STRAY STREAKS

(By Fluke McFluke.)

One of Hartford's young ladies was looking over a paper a few days since and came across an article of tobacco news, relating to the sales, &c., and among other things happened to notice that a certain firm would pay 7 1/2 cents per pound for all kinds of trash.

The young lady was rather mixed as to particular sort of trash referred to, exclaimed to her mother or some one, as to what an exceedingly good thing it was for all of the people and poor people in particular as most any one could gather a few hundred pounds of trash of some sort and thereby secure quite a sum of money.

Al went to Louisville the other day, and we wept upon the tail of his coat when he returned. We cast our head upon his cold and unresponsible chest, yes, we threw both arms around Al, letting our hands lightly fall to his hip pockets and then over the pockets of both dress and overcoat and we proceeded to find nothing. We even watched our chance and went thru his suit case and still found nothing. Since then I vowed a vow that I would never again shed a tear over Al's going away or be joyed at his return.

We've decided to send a string of navy beans to a selected number of our friends for Christmas presents.

County Agent Work.

Through development of improved organization and the growth of a more definite project system the Office of Extension Work in the North and West carried its demonstration activities into closer relation to the practical needs of the farmers of the region during the past year, according to the annual report of the States Relations Service of the department. Local associations of farmers took a greater part in the work and more attention was devoted to studies of local economic facts upon which to develop demonstrations of permanent value. Extension work in the special interests of farm women was undertaken in the territory under the office, and a number of women agents were placed in the field.

Among the specific results from the county-agent work of the Office of Extension Work in the North and West during the year were:

Yields of corn in fields managed as demonstrations under supervision of the county agents increased on an average 12.8 bushels per acre over the average yields for the region.

Yields of wheat in fields managed as demonstrations increased 8.4 bushels per acre.

Yield of oats in fields managed as demonstrations increased 11.7 bushels per acre.

Alfalfa was introduced on 11,311 several score registered stallions and rams and several hundred registered bulls and boars were placed on farms.

Nearly a thousand fine bulls no longer useful in their communities because of danger of inbreeding were saved from the block and transferred to other communities.

One hundred and forty-three cow-testing associations, 90 live-stock breeding associations, and 142 hog cholera control associations were organized.

More than 200,000 hogs were vaccinated against cholera.

Better farm management was promoted through assistance given to farmers in determining the factors that make for success or failure in farm enterprises.

Farmers' exchanges and co-operative marketing associations were organized and effected large savings to members.

A device has been originated by specialists of the department which promises a more satisfactory and practical application of the hot-water treatment for the prevention of loose smut of wheat and barley.

Extensive researches by plant pathologists of the department upon the development of crown gall upon plants show that these galls, which are caused by a bacillus, have very many points of resemblance to human cancer.

PAPER TROUBLE UNSOLVED

Trade Board proposes That Large Share With Small Publisher.

Washington, Dec. 15.—A conflict of interest between large and small newspaper publishers developed at conferences today between the Federal Trade Commission, the publishers and news-print paper manufacturers and jobbers, held to consider a proposal that the problem of an apparent news-print shortage be solved by distribution of the available supply under supervision of the commission, if possible, concerning prices and increased production.

A plan proposed and apparently favored by the Trade Commission, the manufacturers and the small publishers, under which large publishers would relinquish five per cent of their 1917 quota to the smaller publishers, met with immediate opposition. The large publishers declared they were being made the victims of manufacturers, who, by diverting machines now on wall paper and wrapping paper back to making news-print, could solve the shortage problem within a few days. Both large and small publishers insisted that the plan called for no concessions by the manufacturers.

The plan proposed would provide that the five per cent turned back by the large establishments would be apportioned among the small publishers at the average contract price charged the large publishers. This would be between 3 and 4 cents a pound. The jobber would receive in addition about 1 per cent for handling.

Committees of the publishers, manufacturers and jobbers were named to continue conferences with the Trade Commission next week in an effort either to perfect the plan proposed or to work out some other acceptable plan. The Publishers' Committee will begin Monday to send out questionnaires to the newspapers, ascertaining the needs of the small publications and learning if the large publishers will agree to give up a part of their paper.

Cough Medicine for Children.

Mrs. Hugh Cook, Scottsville, N. Y., says: "About five years ago when we were living in Garbutt, N. Y., I doctor two of my children suffering from colds with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and found it just as represented in every way. It promptly checked their coughing and cured their colds quicker than anything I ever used." Obtainable everywhere.

$90,000,000 WAGE BOOST Uncle Sam Asked for Increase By Half Million.

Washington, Dec. 16.—Half a million Government employees will get wage boosts aggregating $90,000,000 if the American Federation of Labor succeeds in its demand for salary increases of 10 to 33 1/3 per cent for everybody on the national payroll, from the President down.

For generations the humble Government clerk has been a symbol for an animal that would stand hunched and take what was offered, with downcast eyes and a thankful smile; but there are signs that he is beginning to get his back up.

The demand of the Government employee is based on facts set forth in the resolutions:

That there has been no general increase in the wages and salaries of rank and file Government employees for nearly three quarters of a century; that during that time there has been an unprecedented rise in the cost of living, estimated to be more than 100 per cent.

It is virtually an appeal from the servants of Uncle Sam to the people of the United States for pay sufficient to enable them to meet the great cost of their bread and butter.

The delegates present at the conference in Samuel Gompers' office at which the demands were formulated were unanimous in declaring that these demands will be adhered to until the very end.

If the Federal employees, unused to concerted action, were along, the demands might be regarded with scepticism. But the committee in charge of the movement is composed chiefly of representatives of the American Federation of Labor veterans in wage campaigns, and skillful organizers.

The movement is promised the united backing of the A. F. of L. and all its constituent organizations.

As a spectacular method of bringing these demands to the attention of Congress, leaders are planning a monster petition, with the greatest number of signatures of employees and interested citizens ever secured. This petition will be circulated by Postoffice employees, rural mail carriers, inspectors and all other classes of Federal workers whose duties bring them into everyday contact with the public.

In addition the plans include a letter-writing campaign to individual congressmen, telling just how hard it is for John Jones and Bill Smith to make both ends meet on what Uncle Sam pays them for carrying mails, digging reclamation ditches, tending light-houses, or rescuing people from shipwrecks. — Louisville Herald.

Wilson Will Use Veto.
Washington, Dec. 12.—Friends of a literary test for aliens arriving in the United States, one of the principal provisions in the immigration bill now under discussion in the Senate, received information to-day that President Wilson would veto the measure if it comes to him with that feature incorporated. Some of them, however, were anxious to press the bill with its literacy test to a final conclusion, despite the prospect of a presidential veto.

President Wilson already has vetoed immigration legislation because it contained the literacy test. Presidents Cleveland and Taft vetoed similar legislation for the same reason.

Kissed Men Who Were To Die.
A little story about the chief of the French army is to me typical of the whole of his relations with the armies of the republic. He had called for volunteers for a special air service which meant almost certain death. The three men selected from the crowd who came forward saluted and were quietly walking away when he stopped them with a word. "Est-ce que les enfants vont la mort sans embrasser leur papa?" (Are the children going to their death without kissing their papa?), he asked, and kissed them each in turn.

The depth of the brotherly and fatherly relations existing in the French army between officers and men has always, throughout the war, seemed to me to be one of the great secrets of the strength of our allies. I am more than ever convinced of it now that I have seen the generalissimo with some of his men. —London Times.

AVIATOR'S REPORT INTERESTING STORY

MEMORY OF THE LATE CAPTAIN
BOELKE REPLETE WITH DRAMATIC INCIDENTS.

Berlin, Dec. 21.—Replete with dramatic incidents and interesting features are the reports just published of the late Capt. Boelke, the famous German aviator, who brought down forty hostile aeroplanes during his service with the army, which ended with his death on October 29.

The reports show that in the majority of the air engagements the distance between the combatants usually was about 100 meters, but often vary from thirty to forty meters.

On November 2, 1915, Boelke made bold to approach a French aviator as close as three meters. "He fled," says Boelke's report, "but it didn't help him, for I was much quicker. I fired 500 shots, keeping up the fire until he began to fall. I had approached a distance of three meters and still he hadn't begun to come down. At the moment when a collision seemed inevitable, I turned my machine rapidly on its left side. The enemy turned his upside down on the right hand. I did not see him any more."

Many times hostile machines made seemingly incredible efforts to escape the much-feared German aviator, the hostile aviator apparently desiring at least to save his own life, the reports indicate. On March 4, 1916, Boelke reported:

"Again I approached the enemy, who had already been violently fired upon. Then I saw something most peculiar. The observer had clutched upon the left wing of the machine and was clinging to the supports. He looked at me as if quite terrified and waved his hand. I shot away a piece of the helm and the machine had pitched downward. In order again to get it in balance the observer had seated himself on the wing."

Boelke reported a grawsome incident as occurring on one of the last of his flights, on October 8 of this year:

"I wondered at the stubbornness of the enemy," wrote the aviator, "considering that he must have been harassed a long time ago; but he continued to circle in the same fashion. Reason told me the man must be dead and that the machine was being maintained in its right position only by the rubber bands at the helm. Therefore I approached slowly and saw the occupant of the machine leaning toward the right side, dead. The airplane bore the number 2,195. The horrible picture still unshaken. I let the man alone and attacked the next one."

Burglar Was Up To Date.

As the burglar raised the window Miss Helen Gummill, daughter of H. J. Gummill, of Wilmette, sat up in bed. It was 4:30 o'clock in the morning.

"Nice evening," said the burglar.

"It's morning," said Miss Gummill.

"Are you a regular burglar?"

"Yes, miss?"

"Then all I have to do is to sit here and ask you questions about yourself and trade while you burgle the room?"

"Yes," said the burglar, "folks expect that ever since they began to get these burglar sketches in vaudeville. With the young, pretty girls, like yourself, we're going to discuss the nebular hypothesis and sociology. We can't wait for the results that we get out of the old girls. Where is your money?"

"I haven't any. How do you treat the old girls, as you call them?"

"As, we just stick pins in their feet and they tell where the money is hid pretty quick. Haven't you got any jewels?"

"No; they are in the safe deposit vault. I see your flashlight isn't working well. You will find matches on the bureau. And please tell me—do you think Bacon or Shakespeare wrote the latter's works?"

"I think Spencer wrote them. Isn't there really anything valuable I can take here?"

"I'm sorry; not a thing," said Miss Gummill.

"Well," said the burglar as he retired through the window. "I'll have to take your word for it, but I certainly wish you were an old girl, because I need the money."

The burglar also entered two other Wilmette homes, but encountered persons awake in both, which caused him to retire.—Chicago Tribune.

RIDING ON BUBBLES OF AIR

Motoring Would Be Ideal If Tires Could Be Made Thinner.

In the whole mechanism of modern transportation there is nothing so paradoxical, nothing so daring in conception as these bubbles of air which we call tires. They are at once strangely nonsensical and strangely practical—nonsensical because they must endure great strains, and yet are necessarily made of unendurable materials, practical because nothing can match air as a shock absorber. For all the tales that we hear of tire costs and tire repairs, let it not be forgotten that motoring as we know it became possible because the art of riding on bubbles of air had been discovered.

What happens when the old-fashioned iron-tired, wooden buggy wheel strikes a small stone in the road? It simply rises, and the entire load resting on the wheel is lifted. There is loss of power—more work for the horse; for whenever you or a horse lifts a weight, energy must be expended. What happens when an air tube strikes a stone? The tube is simply punched in, as it were, momentarily; the wheel need not be lifted over the obstruction.

In order to secure this extraordinary result, the air must have a chance to compress. If it were possible to build a tire with a wall as thin as a soap bubble's and yet so tough and elastic that it would both yield to blows and resist punctures and blowouts, the ideal would be attained. One of the hardest technical tasks ever set was that of demanding from the rubber industry a tube which would hold air, and which would also be resilient.

Air tubes serve not only to make motoring luxuriously comfortable, but to protect the car itself. Were it not for them, engines would not perform their work so efficiently; gasoline would not be so economically consumed; high speed would be unattainable; steering would not be so easy; shock would not be completely absorbed.—Waldemar Raempfert, in McClure's.

LATEST WAR NEWS

Monday.

France.—French forces continued their attack on the east bank of the River Meuse, in the Verdun region, and after a violent struggle captured Bezonsaux and the wood to the west of that village. The French advance was checked in front of German positions on heights north of Bezonsaux. Attempts of British detachments to enter German trenches near Hannescamps, south of Arras, were sanguinely repulsed.

Romania.—The Teutonic armies under Field Marshal von Mackensen in Eastern Wallachia have crossed the Buzau and lower Calmatain Rivers, and in addition to taking 1,150 prisoners captured great quantities of railroad rolling stock with innumerable vehicles of other kinds.

The pursuit of the Russian and Rumanian troops in Dobrudja continues and the Teutonic forces now are close to the forest district in the North, where it is expected the Russo-Rumanian armies will offer a stiff resistance.

Eastern Front.—Desperate encounters marked the fighting in Volhynia, where the forces of Prince Leopold are declared by the Berlin War Office to have stormed Russian positions on a front of 600 yards north of the railroad between Kovel and Lutsk, capturing five officers, 300 men and several machine guns and mine throwers.

Tuesday.

On the Sea.—Seventeen American muleteers were killed on December 14 when the British horse transport Russian was sunk by a submarine in the Mediterranean Sea, according to an announcement by the British Admiralty. Eleven members of the crew also lost their lives. The Russian is declared to have been empty at the time she was sunk.

France.—French troops have regained the entire occupancy of positions northeast of Verdun. Prisoners taken on the last French thrust now total more than 11,000.

Romania.—In the region of Buzau Gen. von Mackensen has been successful in minor engagements.

Russia.—The Teutonic army advancing northward in Dobrudja has crossed important railroad lines lines skirting Ibraila and Galatz.

Wednesday.

As To Peace.—Announcement was made yesterday in the British and French Parliaments that the Entente Allies had unanimously decided to reject the peace proposals of the German Government. A joint note will be forwarded to Berlin in the near future. Both Premiers, Lloyd-George and Briand, in their speeches stressed the fact that Germany had made no definite proposals on which peace could be reached and that without them the offer could not be taken seriously.

In both Parliaments the announcement of the Allies' attitude was given hearty support, and in England former Premier Asquith and other members of the retiring Government endorsed the position of the new Cabinet.

Dobrudja.—The Russian and Rumanian troops who have been in retreat before the Teutonic Allies in Dobrudja seemly now are at a point where they either must make a stand or cross the Danube into Bessarabia or into Moldavia in the region of Galatz.

Thursday.

As to Peace.—President Wilson yesterday appealed to the nations at war to discuss terms of peace. In official notes sent to the belligerents and all neutrals he did not propose peace or offer mediation, but called for an avowal of their respective views on the subject. President Wilson's action came as a surprise to official Washington and the foreign diplomatic corps. The note was submitted to the President's advisers Monday and dispatched Tuesday. Not until last night did any inkling of the President's action become public. Representatives of Teutonic Powers in Washington welcomed the latest move on the part of the United States, but Entente diplomats were not so hopeful that the action of the Chief Executive would lead to any definite result.

A peace movement is being considered by Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Switzerland, which are seeking to enlist the aid of Holland, according to a dispatch from Berlin.

His Wheat Million Faded.

Wichita, Kans.—A million dollars almost in his hands, a break in the wheat market, cautious bankers calling in his notes, and Arthur Pauline ine, baseball magnate, speculator and property owner, saw the dream of fortune vanish. He has transferred a theater, hotel and four business buildings, valued at $325,000, to men who lent him money to cover wheat margins last summer.

Pauline bought 1,000,000 bushels of wheat last spring. He put all the cash he had into covering margins as wheat dropped last summer and then began borrowing cash. Last June his notes were called in and he could borrow no more cash. Had he been able to hold on two weeks longer he would have made a million, as the price started up and went to $2.00.

The property was transferred to John M. Moore, of Kansas City, and S. B. Amidon, J. W. Metz, F. D. Trekel and Darcey E. Dunn, all local men.

Pauline was working as a telephone operator in a Wichita bucket shop a few years ago when he cleared up $150,000 on wheat speculation. Later he made $100,000 more.

Wouldn't This Jar You?

He was madly in love. She was cold and indifferent.

"See, darling," she exclaimed, "I am at your feet."

"Well, how do you like my spats?"

BABY FIRED MACHINE GUN

In Sixty-Six Seconds Six-Year-Old Girl Released 270 Rounds.

New York.—Just to test the weapon and show that a child could handle it, little Miss Betty Hart, six years old, fired 270 rounds of ammunition with a machine gun in sixty-six seconds, each shot hitting a six-inch target placed at a distance of sixty yards, at the Larchmont Yacht Club.

The bullets penetrated six inches of wood, three feet of sand and a layer of armor plate, stopping when they hit the rocks of a breakwater.

This is teaching the young how to shoot with a vengeance.

The weapon seems tolerably useful. Citizens possessing much valuable plate and jewelry will no doubt see the advisability of having one around the house.

Birthday Party.

Miss Pauline White was hostess to a surprise birthday party at the elegant home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph White, at Narrows, Tuesday, December 19. Miss Pauline, who was just sweet sixteen Tuesday, was at school and was in total ignorance of the happy celebration by her friends of her birthday until entering the gate at her home at the noon hour. About a score of her girl friends followed her.

An elegant dinner was served. Miss Pauline was the recipient of many pretty presents and a jolly bunch of school girls were an hour late, but the school marm didn't give any tardy marks.

Those present were Miss Lillie Eisler, Pauline's teacher, and Misses Lucille Daniel, Glenda Graham, Christine Graham, Lerline Foreman, Arlie Thomas, Marguerite Renfrow, Cecil Carter, Olivia Harrison, Essie Lynch, Cecil Kuykendoll, Ethel Muffett, Rhea Wooley, Mabel Foreman, Edith Muffett, Dimpie Kuykendoll, Edna Brown, Violet Powers, Durelle Godsey, Minnie Godsey, Elizabeth Harrison and Marian Godsey.

Grasped The Idea.

Long—What's the difference between capital and labor?

Short—Suppose you let me have $5; that would be capital.

Long—Oh, I see; and when I tried to get it back, that would be labor.

Enlightening Directions.

Walker—Where do these roads lead?

Native—One of 'em leads to my home and 't other goes straight on.

This year's strawberry crop in the United States was worth $20,000,000.

160 acre farm 4 miles east of Hartford, on the border of the oil fields. Good dwelling, barn and other necessary outbuildings. Young orchard, strawberry bed and other pleasing features. If bonds carry inter-county seat pike will be near. See, or write Tinsley & Barnett, Hartford, Ky., for further particulars.

Babies Hadn't a Chance.

Showwalker—Do you realize that you were four hours selling those two women a yard of ribbon?

Saleswoman—I know, sir. But just as they got to the counter they discovered that they each had a baby just learning to talk.

Remember Golden Rule.

There invariably comes a time in each person's life when he or she bows for help, and help comes on the jump to the person who has always been kind to others.—Mystic Worker, Mount Morris, Ill.
